A popular comedian was a witness in a suit for slander, and the opposing counsel said: "You are an actor, I believe?" "Yes," replied the comedian.

"Is not that a low calling?"

"I don't know; but it's so much better than my father's that I am rather proud of it."

"What was your father's calling, may I ask?"

"He was a lawyer."—London Tit Bits

Two darkies in South Carolina were dickering on the sale of a mule. "How much'll you take fo' dat mule, brother?" inquired the first.

"Ah'll sell you dat mule so cheap dat you'll feel lahk a hoss thief!"—Judge.

Magistrate of Irish Court (after a turbulent scene amongst general public)—The next person that shouts 'Down with England,' I'll have thrown out into the street.

Prisoner (excitedly)—"Down wid England!"—London Opinion.

Bilkins had no love for his wife's little pet dog, but one day when it mysteriously disappeared he offered $25 reward for its recovery.

"But I thought," said a friend, "you hated that dog like poison?"

"So I did," replied Bilkins; "I could not bear it!"

"Then why on earth did you offer such a big reward for its return?"

"I like to please my wife."

"Well, that may be, but $25 is sure to bring the dog back!"

"I think not," answered Bilkins, "unless someone saw me bury it in the garden."—Congregationalist.

A juryman petitioned the court to be excused.

"I owe a man $25 that I borrowed and as he is leaving town today for some years, I want to catch him before he gets to his train and pay him the money", he said.

"You are excused," the judge announced in a very cold voice. "I don't want anybody on the jury who can lie like you!"—Boston Poss.
