University of the Virgin Islands

The University of the Virgin Islands offers a traditional American approach to higher education to its diverse student body. Because the American style of education is recognized worldwide as a superior educational experience, you can be confident that a UVI education is comparable to the college education offered at any mainland U.S. college or university. However, when compared to many U.S. universities, there is one major difference – our class sizes are small. With approximately 2,500 students and a student-to-faculty ratio as low as 9 to 1, you'll receive individualized attention and opportunities to fully participate in class discussions at UVI.

UVI students come from the U.S. Virgin Islands, many states and bordering countries. Faculty members also come from a variety of countries and cultural backgrounds. Together they blend their international perspectives and cultures on a campus that is dedicated to developing well-prepared and well-rounded students.

At UVI, the college experience is like no other. Our Marine Science Center is a virtual underwater classroom where you may spend more time in a wet suit than seated in a classroom chair. Students can prepare for final exams while reclining in a beach chair. Outdoor concerts are not confined only to the summer months; at UVI, outdoor cultural events are year-round activities.

This uniquely Caribbean college experience goes beyond the serene tropical setting. The Caribbean spirit of compassion and caring is embedded in each student and faculty member.
