EDITORIAL.

We consider that the public is entitled to a word from Mr. Morris Davis, President of the Federation of Labor in regard to a statement communicated to this paper to the effect that he had secured wages of $1.15 per 8 hour day for the members of his organization as published some time ago. We accepted the news in good faith at the time, but subsequent events purporting to dispute the accuracy of it, we feel constrained upon to ask Mr. Davis to take a stand in this question which ought to be authoritatively answered by him.

LOCAL.

We learn with much pleasure of the promotion of District Chief of Police Espersen to the rank of Senior District Chief, and congratulate this energetic officer on the long deserved recognition to which we are sure everybody feels he is justly entitled.

Two prominent grocers, Messrs. M.
A. Pretto and A. C. Bough are gracing our columns today with ads. to which the attention of readers is invited. Many of the prices quoted are unusually low.

We issue a reminder of the illustrated lecture to be given at the barracks at 8 o'clock this evening, and the continuation of the Gray Ghost at the Theatre at 8.30. There will be something to interest everybody at either place.

Correspondence.

The Editor of the "St. Croix Avis."

Dear Sir:—

There are some persons who seldom or never attend moving picture shows, and their only objection is, that to witness a murder scene, or a burglar entering a house etc., may tempt one to practice the same things in life. For the benefit of those I ask you to publish the following taken from "Current Opinion" for September 1920;—

"As for the people who say that murder stories incite to murder, one is tempted merely to the reckless reply that their criticisms of murder stories really might.
But it will be enough for most of us to know that the temptations to crime are in life and not in literature or any other art; and, if a man does not steal because he is too poor to afford food, he will hardly do it merely because he is sufficiently rich to afford cinemas. We also know that any attempt to exclude murder stories would not be an attack on the lowest literature but on the highest literature. 'Hamlet' is a murder story;
'Macbeth' and 'Othello' are murder stories. Dante deals with murderers, as well as with all the other crimes that are and are not printed in the police news.
In the Bible the story of mankind begins with a murder, and ends with the most awful of all possible murders....I do not know what else the object of arbitrary cinema censorship could be, unless it were to prevent mankind from discovering the existence of death."
