Fleming 26, the latter being thus elected by a majority of more than twice the number of votes cast. The result of this election indicates a level headedness of the electorate which is very commendable and we take pleasure in congratulating the successful candidate who we feel will stand by the constituency and the island in general whenever he has the opportunity. A contributor in one of our contemporaries was so furious at what we had to say in regard to this election that we fear for his safety in these days. It would be no "piffle" if he got so uncontrollable that he went around knifing people out of sheer chagrin. We hope we are not as correct in this as we were in the election matter.

We beg to thank Mr. V. Wulff for his courtesy in furnishing us with the rainfall for the estates belonging to the West Indian Sugar Factory for the month of August and also for the present year to August 31st. As said list came to hand too late for this issue we hope to publish same tomorrow. He has kindly promised to furnish us with a monthly list which we shall be happy to publish whenever received.

The Native Brass Band gave a very good concert on the Wharf last night.

Football.

Yesterday afternoon after putting up one of the hardest fight on the Holger Danske Ground in the inter-mixed match played between members of the Dreadnought Football Club, the Starlight was defeated by the Lincolntes before a large number of spectators who enjoyed the game. The score being S. I. L. 2. Both sides will battle against each other in the near future, if Capt. Host of the Lincolntes don't refuse Starlight challenge, fearing himself and his men will be taken prisoners. --Com.

Geneva, Sept. 6th.--The storm over Italy's refusal to recognize the authority of the League of Nations to regulate her dispute with Greece gives no indication of diminishing. On the contrary it shows signs of developing into a political typhoon of the first degree. Representatives of states like Belgium, Sweden and Uruguay went on record today as insisting upon respect for the League Covenant and as being unqualifiedly convinced that Italy should submit the controversy to the League for settlement. The cause of world peace demanded it, the very life of the League itself was at stake, several of the statesmen declared before the council session, if the covenant was defied, precious guarantees for the small nations of the earth would cease to exist. The council again avoided taking direct league action on the Italian attitude towards the League, but endeavoured to advance a compromise plan calculated to hasten a solution of the Greco-Italian crisis, through the collaboration of the League of Nations and the council of Ambassadors. This plan was put forward by the Spanish member of the Ambassadors Council, Count Quiñones De Leon. It was not adopted, but the council agreed that the minutes of today's session should be forwarded to the Paris body for its enlightenment. Signor Salandra, head of the Italian Delegation, absolutely refused to accept all parts of the resolution presented which proposed that Italy recognise the competence of the League to intervene, and even questioned the right of the Council of Ambassadors to settle the question of general reparations which Italy has demanded of Greece because of the murder of the Italian officers. Among the suggestions made in the Spanish proposal was that the League representatives should assist in the official enquiry into the assassination and that the permanent court of international justice should decide the indemnity Greece must pay Italy. Those in the crowded council chamber today witnessed a meeting which lacked nothing as regards dramatic incidents. Lord Robert Cecil gave warning again that the competency of the League to intervene was in Great Britain's view certain, and he indicated very strongly that something more would be done about it. The clear voice of M. Paul Hymans, the Belgian leader, rang through the chamber with the words that the issue involved was exceedingly grave for the future of the League. He was convinced that the covenant applied to the Greco-Italian dispute, and he added that, "the pact forms a precious guarantee for the lesser states and application of its stipulations is essentially to the maintenance of the new order of things in the world in which all countries have placed supreme hope." M. Hjalmar Branting, of Sweden, subscribed to the Belgian view. The Uruguayan delegate, Dr. Alberto Guani, declared that the competency of the League in such international questions, which affected the peace of the world, could not be disputed. The council adjourned without fixing for the next meeting. The chairman, Viscount Ishii, said, "The e remains the question of the competency of the council and the League. It is a judicial question and a grave one. I suggest that we go into that at a later session". St. Johns, Sept. 6th.--The Admiralty survey ship "Mutine" arrived in port on Tuesday afternoon enroute to England and will take on supplies here.
