

"The Screaming Shadow"

Second Instalment Sunday 8th at 8.45 P. M

AT THE

West End Movies

The name of the great French detective Edmond Bayle, a chemist whose laboratory, situated in the Palais de Justice, France, is widely known the world over especially to students of Science, Police Departments, and Criminals. This noted Scientist has gone so far as to detect finger-prints even if the person who made them was wearing gloves at the time.

Such science in Criminology; rejuvenation through the Monkey Gland; combined with History in which the famous "Four Virgins of Burgonia" are active, join in making "The Screaming Shadow" a wonderful success as a movie production.

In this picture you behold again the famous detective of America "Kennedy" in Ben Wilson; Woman's Wit is enacted by Neva Gerba the brave Russo-American actress; and the master criminal, pitting science against science is played by none other than James Girard of the "Voice On The Wire."
