GOODYEAR KNOWS RUBBER

The preparation of rubber for automobile tyres requires expert skill, developed through years of experience.

Only the most exacting preparation and scientific methods can give to rubber the correct degree of those qualities that resist wear and weather.

In this important phase of tyre building—as in design and workmanship—Goodyear's leadership is firmly established, for Goodyear owns its own plantation and knows rubber. Goodyear has been building Cord Tyres for more than nineteen years and has sold more than any other manufacturer.

Close and faithful application of this knowledge over all these years has made Goodyear Cord Tyres uniform as to quality, and insures their ability to deliver long untroubled service.
