Macroom, Ireland, Nov. 29th.—Two lorry-loads of new recruits in training the "Black and Tan" auxiliary police were ambushed last night by from 80 to 100 men near Kilmichael, and fifteen of them were killed. The bodies were brought here this evening. Already reprisals have begun, and reports from the village of Johnstown, between Macroom and Dunmanway, state that scarcely a house is undamaged, and the most of the shops in the district have been set on fire. The residents are fleeing from the place in terror. Here shops have been closed, and all business is suspended. Large parties of auxiliaries bearing rifles and revolvers are patrolling the town and the people are apprehensive that the auxiliaries will take revenge.

London, Nov. 29th.—Despatches relating to the killing of fifteen auxiliary police cadets near Kilmichael were read in the House of Commons by Sir Hamar Greenwood, during the course of the Irish debate today. The party which ambushed the cadets consisted of from 80 to 100 men all dressed in Khaki and wearing steel trench-helmets. They fired from both sides of the road on the lorries, and also directed an enfilading fire straight down. By force of arms some of the men had been disarmed and brutally murdered. Their bodies were rifled of all money and valuables and even clothing was taken from the corpses. Arms and ammunition were also taken, and the lorries burned. The Secretary thought that with fifteen former officers of the late war thus lying dead, the House would not wish to continue the discussion in the face of such a challenge to Parliament and civilization. The subject was then dropped.

General Haking of the British command will leave Danzig during the day, the telegram added, while the French contingent will leave from Neufahrwasser in the Danzig district during the week. Geneva, Nov. 29th.—Removal of the mandates commission as far as possible from governmental influence was the task undertaken by the Council of the League of Nations today. It was decided that the members of this commission shall be appointed by the Council on personal merits and competency and that they shall not occupy any position involving dependency upon their Government. The mandates question occupied almost the entire session and necessarily postponed the election of a successor to Sir Reginald Dwyer, as High Commissioner at Danzig. The mandates commission will include one member named by the international labour organization who will attend all the meetings in an advisory capacity when questions of interest to labour are discussed. Mandatories will be required to submit annual reports through duly authorized representatives setting forth the situation in the territory under jurisdiction. These reports will be examined by the mandates commission which will decide what points therein shall be called to the attention of the council. The mandates commission will sit in Geneva. The sub-committee on blockades today passed a resolution proposed by Lord Robert Cecil that the Council be asked to name an international commission on blockades, whose duty it shall be to report to the Assembly the measures it finds necessary to put a blockade into effect. This is reported as quite likely to put off a definite solution of the blockade question until the next meeting of the Assembly. The committee on the admission of new members to the Assembly of the League of Nations finally agreed today that it is impossible to admit now the new states carved out of old Russian territory.
