"ELMO THE FEARLESS"

Elmo Lincoln, the broad-chested he-man who plays the leading role in "Elmo The Fearless", is acknowledged to be the strongest man appearing in pictures. Proportioned like Hercules, and with the strength of Samson, he actually performs the feats of brute-strength shown in his pictures. He will not fake a scene. His motto is—"Any weakling can fake a stunt. I can do them."

Lincoln's muscle training came about as the result of several years of railroading. He fired an engine for many months on the C. & E. I. Railroad, although he was noted among his playmates in Rochester, Ind., his home, for his prodigious strength, heaving coal into the maw of a giant locomotive developed his physique to amazing proportions.

Among the important pictures in which he played before joining the Universal forces, were "Burning Daylight", a picturization of Jack London's stirring novel, "Judith of Bethulia", "The Wonder Woman", "The Birth Of A Nation", and "Intolerance". In the last two mammoth productions he played the role of a mighty blacksmith.

It was the creation of the unique role of Tarzan, the huge ape-man, in Universal's Picture, "Tarzan of the Apes", the first screen portrayal of Edgar Rice Burroughs' popular character, that brought Lincoln to the ranks of Fame.

He then was started in a Universal serial, "Elmo the Mighty", which attained unusual success. He next was featured in a second serial, "Elmo the Fearless", which is now coming.

Elmo Lincoln, the herculean star of "Elmo The Fearless" is reputed to be the most perfect specimen of manhood on the screen. He is without doubt the "biggest" man in pictures. Here are his proportions:

Neck.....	17 inches	Waist.....	34 inches
Biceps.....	16 "	Wrist.....	8 "
Forearm.....	13 "	Thigh.....	24 "
Chest (normal).....	46 "	Calf.....	16 "
Chest (expanded).....	52 "	Arms spread).....	72 "
Ankle.....	10 inches.

LOCAL.

A programme of choice selections was well rendered by the Native Brass Band in a public concert here last night attended by a large gathering. A lively crowd tramped behind the band on the march home.

His Excellency Governor Kittelle, on his first visit to this island, arrived at Frederiksted yesterday by the Vixen, and will spend some days here it is understood.

There will be held a meeting of the Colonial Council at 1 p. m. today. The Order of the Day appertains to matters of general public interest.

The film to be shown at the Christiansted Theatre this evening is "The Marriage Pit", a complete drama represented to be very entertaining. It was well received in Frederiksted and St. Thomas where it was presented to full houses.

Correspondence

To the Editor of the St. Croix Avis.

Dear Mr. Editor:—

We do not intend to take up much of your valuable time and space today. Just a few words and to the point. The Colonial Council meets in Extraordinary Session today. One of the items on the Order of the Day is the all important Budget for the Municipality of St. Croix. While it is true we need first-class roads, reservoirs, and other important things that we are heartily in favor of, we beg to remind our Honorable Legislative Body that last but NOT least, a substantial support for a good Municipal Band in both towns is necessary. Remember, "Every country and every race has its music. It is the common language of the race. It is the bond of nationhood". Grown up people are fond of it. The little children delight in the fascinating influence of music. It is the life of the town.

And the usual staple articles.

On Monday April 18th 1921. the "St. Croix Avis" in its Editorial columns paid a high tribute to the Native Brass Band of Christiansted, and called the Council members attention to the needs of this twelve year old organization, recently equipped with a set of new instruments, at an outlay of several hundred dollars, and the sacrifice the bandmen are making for the entertainment of the public. "The Band is the source of delightful entertainment for the ladies of the town, who weary of the monotony, so often, when there is no music". "The public trusts to the Council to make good". In conclusion we append the words of the immortal Shakespeare:

"Why music was ordained?

Was it not to refresh the mind of man After his studies, or his usual pain?

Then give me leave to read philosophy, And, while I pause, serve in your harmony".
