EDITORIAL.

From recent implied corrections of our versions of news as published in our news column, the "Herald" appears to understand our paper as presenting such items as positive statements of fact. We would, therefore, like to have it made clear that news items in the "Avis" are based upon such information as seems authentic, and can at best only be as accurate as furnished us, for which reason such matter always appears with the introduction: "we have information", "it is reported", etc. News may be true or untrue, or may be misrepresentations of fact, and it is always published in this paper with those reservations.

LOCAL.

The town clock would appear to be some ten minutes slow for the past week or more judging by the hoisting and lowering of colors at the barracks. If this is given attention it would be much appreciated by those who depend on the steeple and are being misled.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of the St. Croix Avis.

Dear Sir:—

Kindly publish in your daily papers the following true statements of the cricket match that was played on the Holger Danske Ground on Sept. 6th.

A so-called reporter who recently escaped, from an insane asylum boldly commented upon the cricket match that was played at the place above referred to. Reporter says if I had the mind that my club (the N. C. C.) can beat the C. C. C. we must first take some nourishments, such as eggs and chocolates. Now, in reply to reporter advise I can assure him, that we had for our consumption so much eggs and chocolates before the contest commenced, that the C. C. C. had to take men from the Invincible C. C. which is the strongest club in Christiansted to beat us. If the C. C. C. believes we can't beat them, let them meet the N. C. C. on same ground at earliest opportunity, but with exception of members from the Invincible C. C. Reporter should have first found out the truth of things, before showing his cloven feet, or he should have called on a physician, and should have had his upper story cleaned up, before continuing his job as a reporter.

When this contest was planned between the captains of both clubs the captain of the C. C. C. immediately called for a decision on the game. Now the N. C. C. was never organized as a C. C. before playing that match. It is only now that we are going to form a real club. I told the captain of the C. C. C. that I would select eleven men who have not been playing cricket for a very long time, and give him a battle, he agreed and told me that I must not take men from the Invincible C. C. who are at present active members and in regular practice. I agreed and kept my promise as a man, I gave the names of my men to the Captain of the C. C. C. a few days before the contest, and he gave me the names of his men. The names of members of both clubs were published in the daily issues of Sept. 4th 1920. I, as captain of the N. C. C. played the match with the same men whose names were published in the papers. But the captain of the C. C. C. just the very day of the match took in men from the Invincible C. C. to play in the contest. Now, that is the very club he told me not to take men from. Consider the unfairness that was carried out, now these are plain facts for fair minds. It was decided upon not to take men from the Invincible C. C. this decision was binding on both clubs and was agreed on by both captains.

JOSEPH A. THOMAS.
Captain of the N. C. C.
