WILL PRESENT ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Sir HENRY IRVING'S Great Stage Success.

"THE LYONS MAIL"

IN FIVE PARTS.

"The Lyons Mail" is founded upon a remarkable trial in which a man of honor and position actually fell a victim to his extraordinary resemblance to an assassin.

The great drama gives the star the rare opportunity of playing what is conceded to be the most powerful dual role ever created. It fell to the happy lot of H. B. Irving, the talented son of Sir Henry Irving, to draw upon the screen the celebrated characters made famous by his illustrious father.

"THE LYONS MAIL"

Is one of the most compelling photo-dramas that has recently been shown. An excellent picture that will furnish entertainment for all. As it will not be repeated on Monday Night we politely ask our patrons and friends to take the opportunity of coming on

The regrettable and unlooked for news of the death of President Harding will be found recorded in this issue reaching us late this morning after previous bulletins indicating a hopeful turn in his condition had been already inserted. On this doleful occasion flags on public buildings are at half mast in this town.

OFFICIAL NOTES.

Administration Building,
Saint Thomas, Virgin Islands,
28 July, 1923.

Lieutenant Ernest L. Ackiss, Chaplain Corps, U. S. Navy, has been appointed Aide for Public Welfare on the Staff of the Governor of the Virgin Islands; Prohibition Commissioner of the Virgin Islands, and Member of the Library Commission of St. Thomas, effective 30 July, 1923, vice Lieutenant Walter L. Steiner, Chaplain Corps, U. S. Navy, detached.

1 August, 1923.

San Francisco, 31 July, 1923.—It was announced today that President Harding had won the first skirmish in his fight against Broncho Pneumonia which was discovered to have set in last night. The President had a fairly comfortable night. His temperature at 9 a. m. was 100, pulse 120 and respiration 40. There has been no extension of the Pneumonia and the heart action is definitely improved. He expresses himself as feeling better and less exhausted after a night during which his condition was described as being grave. The President's Doctors were encouraged by the fact that he slept six hours. Dr. Sawyer, his personal physician, in an individual statement said condition seemed to warrant the belief that he had gotten into clear sailing characteristics and that the President is helping the Doctors (by his cheerful disposition. When they took an X'ray of his lungs, he said: "Go ahead I have nothing to conceal". Today he had the morning paper brought to him and later he was said to be resting. He is quartered in Palace Hotel, Eight Floor.

The Navy Press News received yesterday state that President Harding will be rushed back to Washington by special train as soon as he has sufficiently recovered from illness, and that he was confined to sickroom with four doctors in attendance. His condition is due to his having temporarily overstrained the cardio vascular system by carrying on his speaking engagements while ill.

President Harding on the Road to Recovery.

W. I. & P. Telegraph Co.

San Francisco, Cal., July 31st.—President Harding has passed the crisis and is on the road to recovery, according to a statement made late today to the Associated Press by Dr. Charles E. Sawyer, the President's physician.

San Francisco, Aug 1st.—The President today seemed certain of recovery barring improbable development of new complications in his illness. Sleep and rest, Surgeon Sawyer said, was what the president most needed and so far as could be learned prior to issuance of an official bulletin, this need was being met.

Death of President Harding.

San Francisco Cal., Aug 2nd.—It was just 7.50 tonight when a Secretary ran out of President Harding's apartments and gave out the formal notice of his death. It reads: "The President died at 7 30 p. m." Mrs. Harding and the two nurses, Miss Ruth Powderly and Miss Sue Dauser were in the room at the time. Mrs. Harding was reading to the President when utterly without warning a light shudder passed through his frame. He collapsed and all recognized
