Dortmund, June 17th.—The French have occupied Dortmund's central railway station, giving them control of the railway lines leading from the coal mines in the heart of the Ruhr.

Dusseldorf, June 17th.—Plans to take control of the coal and coke and raw material supplies of all the factories in the Ruhr, are announced at the French headquarters here. The occupation authorities decided to adopt this method to enforce payment of the coal tax, which all, except a few of the smaller plants, have heretofore refused to pay.

Essen, June 17th.—The miners and factory workers in various parts of the Ruhr held meetings today to determine what action should be taken in view of the latest move of the forces of occupation to break the passive resistance of the Germans by the taking over of the railway stations of Dortmund, Bochum, Herne, Gelsenkirchen and other industrial towns. The French now control absolutely all the railway lines leading into and through the Ruhr, by which, up to last Saturday, the Germans had been bringing in food supplies from unoccupied Germany. These food shipments to the Ruhr had been from five hundred to six hundred car loads daily. When the remaining lines were taken over, the German railwaymen left work, as a part of their passive resistance programme. Owing to the seizure of the lines, according to the French authorities, the Germans will now be forced to come to terms with the French, in order to allow necessary food supplies to reach the inhabitants of the Ruhr.

London, June 16th.—Humanity is offered a palliative, if not a cure, for tuberculosis by Prof. Georges Dreyer, distinguished doctor of Oxford University. The basis of his treatment is described as a more effective system of inoculation than has hitherto been known. In explaining his discovery to the Institute of Pathology and Research of St Mary's Hospital, Prof. Dreyer declared that remarkable cures had been effected with the new vaccine on guinea pigs and other animals and that great improvement had been made in the cases of persons suffering from tuberculosis, blood poisoning, anthrax and venereal diseases. He pointed out that in the inoculation of human beings dead bacteria were used. In order to be successful, the microbes must be digested and destroyed by the tissues of the patient, but a coating of fat which covered some microbes prevented the juices of the body from getting at them. He explained that his new system was to destroy the fat surrounding these germs, thus making them more easily destroyed by vaccine injections. London physicians who have used the new treatment declare the benefit derived by tuberculosis inoculations is much greater than from the other forms of treatment in use. They report complete cures in some advanced cases of tuberculosis affecting various parts of the body.
