

largely responsible for the details thereof, both have registered their disappointment at the latest turn of events. I will be impossible to try to summarize public opinion.

New York, Nov. 21st.—The Prince of Wales laid a wreath on the grave of Mr. Theodore Roosevelt today and later presided over a function which would have had a particular appeal to the former President. For one entire afternoon, the young British heir was host to 1,000 school children on board the great battle cruiser Renown. At the Prince's own request the children were left free to wander at will over the great warship, and no restrictions of any kind were placed upon them except where their safety was concerned.

Paris, Nov. 22nd.—Commenting upon the failure of the American Senate to ratify the peace treaty "L'Humanite" says: "Peace without America means continuation of a state of war. The American and Anglo-French alliances crumble without a crash, and an American-Japanese conflict appears in its full light. A league of nations without America simply means reverting to pre-war alliances".

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 21st.—The Sultan as yet has made no reply to the Premier regarding the resignation of the cabinet. Advices from London on November 19th said the Egyptian Ministry resigned because of dissatisfaction with the mission appointed by Lord Milner, the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, to investigate the unrest in Egypt.

London, Nov. 22nd.—The "Daily Mail" in an editorial on a Hindenburg demonstration in Berlin says, "Had the treaty been ratified two months ago, all these officers who are now creating turmoil in Berlin and plotting the return of the all-highest, would have been in the hands of the Allies undergoing trial as mere criminals, we betray no secrets when we say that both Hindenburg and Ludendorff are wanted, not only for their cruel devastation of France, but also for their part in carrying through the submarine campaign with its ruthless atrocities".

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22nd.—Harvard under graduates, back from the war, today scored in the sports of peace-time a football victory over Yale, their ancient rivals. Playing before 500,000 spectators in the Stadium which was crowded as never before, the Crimson Eleven triumphed 10 to 3. The game, marked by several striking plays, was the climax of the first football season at Harvard under the new coaching regime of Robert Fisher. It was the first time in twenty years that a Yale team had gone down to defeat in its two big games with Princeton and Harvard.

New York, Nov. 22nd.—The Prince of Wales attended the Pilgrims' dinner wearing the uniform of a captain in the navy. His appearance occasioned tumultuous applause. After the excitement had subsided the Right Rev. Charles Summer Burch, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New York, said grace. Mr. Chauncey Depew, President of the Pilgrims' Society was toastmaster. Replying to the toast the Prince referred to the part played by the Americans in the great war. "There is only one thing which I would like to refer to tonight", he continued, "not only because it has impressed me with new force during my travels on this continent, but also because it is an actual and visible example of the object and aims which the Pilgrims' Society was formed to promote. I do not think anywhere else in the world except on the North American continent will you find a frontier between two nations three thousand miles long with no extensive physical barriers, no military defences, no other division lines than a boundary determined by mutual confidence and goodwill. As a Britisher and as a Canadian I take high pride in that boundary, the international frontier between Canada and the United States, for it seems to me to illustrate in a very striking and practical way the objects for which Americans and Britishers fought in the great war. Just think of it. The ideal which appears so difficult of attainment elsewhere has been an actual and positive reality in North America for over a hundred years. I have been asked myself how that ideal has been attained here so much in advance of international conditions in other parts of the world and I think the answer is quite clear. It has been attained because you on your side of the international boundary and we Britishers on our side have under somewhat different forms the same political faith, the same human aims and the same practical ideas. These two self-governing peoples, living side by side, each confident of the goodwill of the other, have given this splendid example to the world." The Prince was present with a silver loving cup containing a bouquet of roses. It bore a suitable inscription attesting to the fact that he had been elected an honorary member of the Pilgrims of the United States.

Cairo, Nov. 22nd.—The Local Committee of the Egyptian Nationalists has issued a statement to the native press quoting the recent British statement of policy. Commenting on the statement, the Committee says the publication of this statement of the policy has provoked public astonishment, because it is contrary to the principles of right and justice, and to the London Convention of 1840 which guarantees the independence of Egypt, which was conquered by Egyptians at the cost of their blood.

There passed away on Saturday afternoon after months of lingering illness, one well-known and respected in this community, in the person of Mr. H. A. Hansen. Coming from Denmark in the early 80's Mr. Hansen, then a soldier served his term of service, eventually joining the Police Force with which body he remained for over 20 years. At the time of his demise he was in the service of the Public Works Department. His funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Lutheran Church, of which he was a member, and was well attended, the large company testifying to the respect and esteem in which he was held. To the sorrowing wife and other members of the bereaved family. Mail Notes extends heartfelt sympathy.—St. Thomas Mail Notes, Nov. 24th.

We regret very much having to report the death yesterday afternoon of Mr. Allan O'Neal, younger brother of our well-known townsman Mr. Alfredo O'Neal. It is but just a couple of months that the deceased returned home from the States, where he had been for some years, for the purpose of convalescing.

To his sorrowing mother, and the other members of the family, by whom he was dearly loved, we beg to extend our sincerest sympathy, trusting that the Great Unknown will, in this their hour of bitter trial and tribulation, uphold and strengthen them. The body will be taken to All Saint's at 4 30 p. m. and churchd.—St. Thomas Mail Notes, Nov. 22nd.
