THE CAFETERIA.

The cafeteria is one of the modern developments of the public eating place. The largest one in the whole world is located at East Pittsburg, Pa., and is operated for the comfort and the convenience of the employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. There are seats for 3,000. There is every sort of labor saving device known.

The dishes are washed by machinery. There is a plant to manufacture the ice, means for making ice cream, and doing the cooking. On the floor of the building is an auditorium with every convenience for giving entertainments, and even a moving picture equipment of the most approved type. It makes the ordinary housewife quite green with envy to hear of the machine which will peel forty bushels of potatoes in less than two minutes the wonderful automatic potato masher, bread cutter, and all that sort of thing.

Then there are no stairs to climb for gradual inclines and ramps are used to facilitate the travelling of people from one floor to the next.—Everyday Life.

When a lady who was "burning up the road" on the boulevard was motioned to stop, she indignantly asked: "What do you want with me?"

"You were running 40 miles an hour," answered the officer.

"Forty miles an hour? Why, officer, I haven't been out an hour," said the lady.

"Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one to me."
