To the Editor of the Avis.

Dear Sir:—

I have seen in your paper a notice signed by C. Crowe, Secretary of the Labor Union to the effect that no meeting of any nature is allowed on the Labor Union Estates without permission in writing, signed by the Secretary of the Union. I am a member of the Supreme Council of the Labor Union, and I know of no provision in our Constitution or Bye Laws giving the Secretary any power to put such a notice in the papers. The only person vested with any form of executive authority is the President, and even he has not yet been given the powers of life and death over the members of the Institution. Whenever we the members of the Labor Union wish to hold a meeting on any of our Estates, or request anybody else to hold a meeting of any nature, we will see that it is done. Four months contri-
