The Sunday school teacher had been reading about Canaan, the "land flowing with milk and honey."

"Now," she said to the Class, "what do you think a land flowing with milk and honey would be like?"
"Please, teacher," was the instant reply "sticky!"

"What's all that fuss over in the corner?"

"Mr. Naga is sending a telegram to her husband."

"I know, but why all the fuss?"

"She's trying to tell him exactly what she thinks of him in twelve words."

He had not long been demobilized, so when it was necessary for him to ring up the Faling Exchange on the telephone, he was careful to avoid the possibility of a mistake, and did it in this way.

"E for Enry, A wot'orses eat, L where yer goes to, I wot yer see wiv, N as lays an egg, and G Whiz."

He got through at once.

There was a young girl of Madrid
Whose bike went astray on a skid:

The bystanders heard
Just one little word;

It's a pity they did, but they did.

Husband: "Didn't I telegraph you not to bring your mother with you?"

Wife: "That's what she wants to see you about"

Son: "I can't make you out, father
You tell me to go and find an opening
